DOES THE TRADE WANT IT?

Annual Catalogue, 1886.

IN accordance with many requests from the trade, we have decided to issue a Catalogue of American Books and imported editions published in 1886, provided subscriptions show general desire and adequate demand for an Annual Catalogue.

This will include, re-arranged alphabetically, the full entries (with descriptive notes) of our Weekly Record, prefaced by a short-title index by author, title, and subject—the most complete annual catalogue yet attempted in any country.

Publishers are notified that their advertisements in the Annual Summary Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will appear in this catalogue, if issued, without extra charge.

The price will be Three Dollars, half leather (or $2.50 unbound). The cost of compilation and manufacture prevents cheaper price. The edition will be limited, and plates will not be kept.

If you want an Annual Catalogue issued, please send us a post-card at once to say if you will take one or more copies. If less than 250 subscriptions are sent, we do not propose to undertake the work. If reply is adequate and prompt, we expect to have it ready in thirty days.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HENRY HOLT & Co. will publish shortly "Village Photographs," a series of papers of New England life, character, and scenery, which has been running through the Evening Post for several months.

CUPPLES, UPHAM & Co. have just ready "Rambles in Old Boston, New England," by Rev. Edward G. Porter, illustrated by George R. Tolman, in a handsome quarto volume of 439 pages, with index, maps, and numerous illustrations.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will publish at once Brooks Adams' work entitled "The Emancipation of Massachusetts." Mr. Adams claims that his study of Massachusetts history has convinced him that certain important aims and objects of the early settlers of that State have been hitherto ignored or very inadequately recognized.

In this book he attempts to point out and illustrate these, and to show the steps and agencies by which Massachusetts was emancipated from the ecclesiastical and political narrowness, bigotry, and intolerance, which he claims dominated the colony down to the Revolution. His book is vigorously written and challenges careful study.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have just published in the Spare Minutes Series "Faith and Action," selections from the writings of Rev. F. D. Maurice, with an introduction by Rev. Phillips Brooks, D.D.; "Perry's Saints, or, the fighting parson's regiment," a story of the war for the Union, by Col. James M. Nichols, an intensely interesting story of some of the most remarkable events of the war; also, "Common-Sense Science," by Grant Allen, which contains a number of practical essays upon various scientific problems of the day.

THE CENTURY Co.'s war book, to be called "Battles and Leaders of the Civil War," will be published early in the spring by subscription. In addition to all the war papers by Generals Grant, McClellan, Pope, Buell, Rosecrans, Howard, Beauregard, Longstreet, and scores of other prominent leaders on both sides which have appeared in The Century, the book will contain many papers heretofore unprinted, and will form a continuous illustrated history of the Civil War written by the principal participants. The Century Co. will endeavor to make it artistically and mechanically one of the handsomest subscription-books ever published.

THE SOCIETY FOR POLITICAL EDUCATION, N. J., has issued an interesting tract (No. 22) on "Civil Service Examinations." This comprises a collection of question papers used in Brooklyn, New York, and Boston, with actual answers of successful and unsuccessful candidates applying for various positions, from that of laborer to that of an engineer, thus showing the practical workings of the Civil Service system in its varied applications in the national, State, and municipal services, to different grades of work. The editor of this series of papers, Mr. R. R. Bowker, in an introduction makes a concise, matter-of-fact statement of the claims of the Civil Service system, treating the subject simply from a business point of view and dissipating many false notions regarding examinations.

ROBERTS BROS. will publish this month Harriet Waters Preston's new novel, "A Year in Eden," her first work in this direction of pretensions; the second volume of the Old Colony series, entitled "Agatha and the Shadow," an anonymous novel founded on early colonial history; "Mabel Stanhope," a story by Kathleen O'Meara, which, though published in Europe several years ago, has never before been printed here, and has been rewritten and revised; a reprint of an English book, "Riding for Ladies, with Hints on the Stable," by Mrs. Power O'Donohue, the author of "The Beggar on Horseback," etc.; and a new novel in the No Name series, entitled "A Question of Identity," a story of New England life of to-day. Next month they will publish "Beyond the Golden Gates," a sort of psychological essay showing that, in these days of the craze for theosophy, it is not necessary for one to die to reach the blessed life, but that if people only live as well as they know how here, they can bring the state of Nirvana perfection to earth, and realize here the life which is supposed to lie beyond the golden gates.

Englishmen, in an attempt to elucidate a mystery, are irresistibly impelled to make a journey to unexplored regions in Central Africa. Here, after the most astounding adventures, they find a beautiful woman reigning over a fierce but intelligent tribe, who date their origin back beyond the dawn of history. "She" is not only immortal, having already lived for 2000 years, renewing her youth through baths in a fountain of fire, the source of life, but has godlike powers. The story of the Englishmen's sojourn in this wonderful country is most thrilling.

A translation of a famous French book, Les Etudes de Maître Pierre sur l'agriculture et les forêts, consisting of a series of conversations between a village schoolmaster and a peasant, Master Peter, in which they discuss a scheme proposed by the French government to put an end to the devastation wrought by the freshets—the proposal being to replant the hills with trees. As this means a temporary possession of the pasture lands, the peasants object, looking no further than their present interest. The lesson the study teaches is designed to be taken to heart especially in America, and to demonstrate how disastrous to our agricultural interests is the destruction of our woodlands.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

JANUARY 1, 1887.

WE greet the youngster 1887—in the hope that he will grow to be a better customer of the book-trade than his predecessors of recent years.

We have in plan for the New Year two or three enterprises of importance which it now becomes proper to announce. These are all in line with the present policy of this office to attempt nothing unless we believe there is a real demand for it, and that it will return to the trade as well as to this office more than its cost, in labor saving or in promoting the sale of books. A new reaper costs more than a scythe, but the most economical farmers are those who buy the reaper and save money in labor and the additional return of the crop. The "American Catalogue," for instance, is an outlay which costs money, but we believe every dealer who has actively used it has found that it more than pays its cost in a very little time.

We hope, during 1887, to make the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY more valuable than ever before, and especially to be more free in giving illustrations of technical improvements of interest to the trade, new styles of binding and the like, and we invite our patrons to send us cuts or drawings from which cuts can be made as material for this purpose.

We are planning also to make the Literary News more attractive than before, here also adding illustrations, from the new books of each month, and we urge upon booksellers not already subscribers to consider whether their trade cannot be much increased by the use of this means. We are proposing to add a cover on which each subscriber who buys an imprint edition can take local advertising, by means of which the whole or the greater part of the cost of the edition may be defrayed, and we shall be glad to give particulars to any of the trade not already subscribers. In these days of competition with the great trade centres, such a periodical, issued as the bookseller's own and having a certain local character, should do much to hold and increase the local trade.

We also propose to develop the Library Journal considerably during 1887, and we call the particular attention of those interested to the Library Record Number, which will constitute a double number for January and February, 1887, and which will include a list of public libraries of 1000 volumes and upwards, arranged geographically, but classified by type according to size and with the name of librarian or reporting officer in each case—a list published by co-operation with the Bureau of Education, but in which the last-named features are added by special work. This list has been a costly one to compile and print, and it is not proposed to sell additional copies except to subscribers. The Library Journal for 1887 will contain much matter of interest to the trade, and we should be glad to have their subscriptions for it. The list may be issued later in a separate shape, but not at a less price than three dollars. We shall be glad to have advertising from publishers for this special number, but advertising is not solicited for the regular issues of the Library Journal, as the Literary News is sent as a supplement to Library Journal subscribers.

We have decided this year to extend the index of the Annual Summary Number of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, which will be that for January 29, by giving a short title list by author, title, and subject of the books of 1886, and we trust that this costly feature will be supported by an increase of the advertising patronage for that number. In view of the many calls upon us for an annual list, we have made arrangements, should the actual demand justify, to issue an annual catalogue of books published in 1886, reproducing in one alphabet the full entries with notes from the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for the entire year, preceded by the short title index prepared for the Annual Summary Number of the WEEKLY. The price of this will be three dollars, and its issue will depend upon the number of subscriptions received from the trade. We should be glad, therefore, to hear from intending subscribers at once, as the work of re-production will consume some time. We should hope, however, to issue the list, if prompt responses are made, by the end of January.

The "Publishers' Trade List Annual" has grown to such considerable proportions as to call out protest from several members of the book-trade who value it most highly, as to the stationers' catalogues. We propose, therefore, hereafter to confine the "Publishers' Trade List Annual" exclusively to book catalogues, and to issue, probably during this spring, a "Stationers' Trade List Annual," which shall do for that branch of the trade the great service universally recognized as performed by the "Publishers' Trade List Annual" for the book-trade. Further particulars of this enterprise will be given later on; we believe that it will be a most useful help throughout the trade which is most closely associated with the business of retailing books.

We hope by these new features and enterprises to thank the trade practically for the support so far given this office by justifying their belief in its progressive spirit and its desire to serve them at every possible point.

SECOND BANQUET OF THE B. C. T.

On the evening of December 29, Mazetti's, at 102 West 49th Street, New York, was the objective point of about one hundred of as fine a body of men as one would wish to see, hugging in their inside coat-pockets a bright programme, in a musty-looking cover, relieved by a seal with the cheerful incscription, "Wishing you three hundred and sixty-five happy days," also a dinner check to the Second Annual Banquet of the

The Committee of Arrangements, consisting of C. S. Plummer, J. W. Waltz, Will B. Walker, and G. W. Knott, reported "all clear along the line," and the Brotherhood and a few of their friends adjourned to the room where a most sumptuous repast was awaiting them.

The menu was enclosed in a cover with an original design, colored by hand, representing a swell Brother attired in the height of fashion with a handsatchel at his left and at his right a trunk standing on its beam-end. The cover of the trunk when opened showed the names of the newly-elected officers: President, Charles E. Hopkins; Vice-President, John H. Ammon; Secretary, John Hovenden; Treasurer, Samuel Eckstein; and Board of Trustees, J. Val. Koch, Boz. E. Pike, John H. Black, and John A. McQuillan. In Brotherhood of Commercial Travellers. They came practically from every point of the compass, and what was remarkable, there was stamped on each manly face the determination to have a H. O. T. And from what we learn—they had it.

At about half-past seven an informal business meeting was called, during which it was unanimously resolved that Brother C. S. Plummer be recognized as the founder of the Order, and that the President, Mr. Charles E. Hopkins, be empowered to appoint a committee of ten to consider the subject of a closer organization. It has been pretty thoroughly canvassed during the year that it would be desirable to organize as a club, so that members may have an opportunity to meet more frequently as a body. A club-room has also been talked of, to which we shall give attention in a future issue.

The President then read letters of regret from the following: Messrs. Lew Dockstader, Francis Wilson, and M. B. Curtis, and announced a prospective deficit, to cover which a number of the houses represented "on the road" by the men present, had contributed goods which would be sold under cover by auction.

the background on one side was visible a gay Lothario arm in arm with his Lucinda, and on the other, the traveller's bane—the baggage-room and "smasher."

After removing the cloth Brother Hopkins opened the programme of after-dinner exercises with a brief and pithy speech. Then came the presentation of an elaborate gold and ivory gavel to retiring President C. S. Plummer and a gold pen to retiring Secretary H. C. A. Gibbs. These tokens are to be worn as insignias.

Mr. W. B. Stone, one of the guests, then favored the company with a piano recital, which was heartily applauded.

The first toast of the evening was "Our Brotherhood, its aims and purposes,"

"Where'er I roam, whatever realms to see,
My heart, untrammelled, fondly turns to thee."

This was to have been responded to by Bro. H. P. Beach, but being absent Bro. F. E. Hafeley was induced to do the subject justice and succeeded admirably, notwithstanding his apology that he was only an "eleventh hour job lot."

Bro. H. C. Bainbridge rendered a song, "The King's Highway," to the satisfaction of those present. As an encore he sang a parody on the ballad, "In Days of Old when Knights were Bold," the verses of which are as follows:

In days of old,
When Tramps were bold,
And Drummers got poor pay,
A Traveller bold,
With samples old,
Sang merrily his lay,
Sang merrily his lay:
"I have these goods to sell;
If I don't, the boss will raise—well.
Then what care I, though death be nigh,
I'll sell the stuff, or die!"

The shades of night
Were falling fast,
And his day's work was done.
He'd seen the trade,
Sold bills that paid,
And thought he'd have some fun,
He thought he'd have some fun.
So, dressed up in his best
Dress suit and clean, white vest,
Cried, "What care I, though death be nigh,
I'll have some fun, or die!"

The second toast, "Our License Laws: Millions for defence, but not one cent for tribute," was responded to by a letter from Bro. John Glenn, who was unavoidably detained in Philadelphia. The license laws alluded to do not of course refer to those in which the Prohibitionist party concerns itself.

The Banjo Solo had to be omitted on account of the absence of Bro. F. H. Newcombe. Mr. Nat Goodwin volunteered a story.

After the toast, "Our Benedicts,"

"Happy is he who through life's weary journey Hath an amiable companion," which was happily responded to by Bro. R. L. Thomas, the President announced that the auction would now be in order. Bro. C. S. Plummer was unanimously appointed to the office of auctioneer, and soon satisfied those present that he could sell goods under the hammer fully as well as in the orthodox fashion. Among the goods sold was a handsome autograph album, presented by Messrs Liebenroth, Von Auw & Co., containing the autographs of the one hundred members of the Brotherhood. The sale realized nearly double the amount of the estimated deficit and proved one of the most enjoyable features of the evening.

Mr. Robert B. Mantell, one of the guests, then favored the company with a recitation entitled "Our Folks," and Bro. McQuillan with a baritone solo, both of which were lustily encored.

The fourth toast, "Our Bachelors," with the motto, "His life of single blessedness to the world hath made him more kind," was commented on in a happy speech by Bro. A. E. Welsh; the sixth toast, "Our Trade Journals: ably conducted, intelligently circulated, the greatest adjuncts to the work of the Commercial Traveller," found an able spokesman in Mr. C. K. Urquhart; and the final toast, "The Ladies,"

"As for women, though we starve and flout 'em,
We may live with, but cannot live without 'em," drew forth an eloquent eulogy from Bro. W. B. Walker. A quartette, by Bros. Plummer, Bainbridge, McQuillan, and Newcombe was one of the attractions of the evening.

It had been a bright, clear evening when this banquet began; when the brave band, who held out until the benediction, reached the street, the weather had taken a turn and it was bleak and snow was falling. But the boys didn't mind it a bit. In voices husky with—well, say emotion, they assured one another in the most confidential manner that this was the happiest moment of their lives.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MR. FROUDE is on a tour for the purpose of collecting material for a work on the wreck of the Spanish Empire.

HERBERT SPENCER, who has been restored to good health, will publish in January "Factors of Organic Evolution," enlarged from articles already printed.

MRS. CUSTER, it is reported, has finished the book she has been at work upon all summer. It will make a much bulkier volume than her "Boots and Saddles." It will be published by Charles L. Webster & Co., and sold by subscription.

PROFESSOR W. G. SUMNER has made a careful study of the question of "What makes the rich richer and the poor poorer?" and will communicate the answer to it which he has reached, through the January number of The Popular Science Monthly. His paper on this subject will be the first article in that issue.

THE late General Logan had in preparation a work on "The Volunteer Soldier," which he expected to have ready for publication by June next. The Rev. Robert Nourse, a close personal friend of the General, is authority for the statement that he was not a little disappointed at the reception of his literary venture—"The Great Conspiracy."

A NEW novel from the pen of "The Duchess" (Mrs. Margaret Argles-Hungerford) is promised, which, it is said, will bear a close resemblance to the author's "Phyllis." This latter work, says a correspondent of the Chicago Times, "it will be remembered, was written by 'The Duchess' when, as a young wife, she was, by the imprisonment of her first husband for forgery, thrown upon her own resources. Her second work 'Molly Bawn,' has proved to be her most successful novel, nearly 50,000 copies having been sold by her authorized American publishers, The J. B. Lippincott Co., alone. In addition to this sale, thousands of copies have been sold of the book in the six or seven cheap and unauthorized reprints put out in America. 'The Duchess' is not, as has been frequently stated, an elderly woman. She has not yet reached her 36th year, and was married to her present husband, Mr. Hungerford, three years ago."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE handsome January Magazine of American History opens with the initial chapter in its promised series of studies in the rise, progress, and development of journalism in America. This chapter, treating of "Pre-Revolutionary Editors," and the "Beginnings of Journalism in America," is very interesting, and is illustrated in the most useful, unique, and picturesque manner; the text is from the pen of the Hon. S. G. W. Benjamin, our late Minister to Persia, who writes delightfully, in an easy-flowing, narrative style, the strictest care being given to exact data.

THE success of Scribner's Magazine, judged by the figures vouched for by the publishers, is unique in the history of magazines. The first (January) number was published on December 15th, the first edition being 100,000 copies. It was exhausted on the day of publication. On Saturday, December 18th, a second edition of 25,000 copies appeared, which was at once consumed, and an additional 15,000 was put to press—140,000 copies having been already sold. The demand was so great that it was impossible to keep the dealers supplied. On the day of publication, 2000 copies were sold upon the news-stands of the elevated railroads; at the news-stand of one the New York hotels, nearly 500 copies were disposed of on the first afternoon of its appearance, and several of the dealers at the ferries leading from New York sold 600 copies on the first day.

BUSINESS NOTES

BALTIMORE, MD.—The Baltimore Publishing Co. moved into their new quarters, 180 West Baltimore St., on the 15th ult. It is now the largest building of the kind on the street and is fitted up in the most handsome manner. On the ground floor is the show-room. The counting-room is located in the rear, behind a partition of handsome wood-work. On the second floor is the wholesale department. A reading-room for clergymen, where Catholic periodicals will be kept on file, will be in the front part of this floor. The composing-room occupies the third floor, and the press-room is in the upper story. All the rooms are magnificently lighted. The building is 130 by 26 feet, and is one of the most commodious in the city.

FORT WORTH, TEX.—Max Elser is closing out his book-store.

MENDON, MICH.—M. E. Macdowell has sold out his book and stationery business.

MERIDIAN, MISS.—Robert S. Wetmore has opened at this place a branch of his well-known Selma, Ala., book and stationery store. Mr. Wetmore asks the trade to send him catalogues and quote discounts at Meridian.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES

PUTTKAMMER & MUHLBRECHT, the well-known law booksellers and publishers of Berlin, have issued a catalogue of works in Jurisprudence and Political Economy, which the Publishers' Circular considers a marvel of industry in compilation and of elegance in production. Without claiming for this catalogue absolute completeness as a legal bibliography, Otto Mühlbrecht, the compiler, claims that it contains all those works which, judging from a long experience, he considers of absolute use to the legal practitioner. As a matter of course, almost, the collection is confined, with some notable classical exceptions, to the present century. An excellent classified index is given with the catalogue.

THE Bibliographical Notices, I., which Prof. Willard Fiske is on the eve of issuing at Florence, says the Nation, "comprises a list of such of his books from Icelandic presses, during the years 1578-1844, as are not enumerated in the catalogue of books printed in Iceland published by the British Museum. For the period in question the catalogue enumerates 170 titles, and Prof. Fiske owns 84 of these. He therefore describes in his supplementary list only 139 titles, or the remainder of the 223 in his possession. From 1845 to 1880, the date at which the Museum catalogue ends, the disparity is still greater in favor of Prof. Fiske's collection."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

MACMILLAN & Co. have just issued Hallam Tennyson's "Jack and the Beanstalk," told in hexameters, and illustrated by Randolph Caldecott—his last work before his untimely end.

T. B. PETERSON & BROS. announce new editions of "Beautiful Snow" and "Hans Breittmann's Ballads." Both of these volumes will be illustrated, printed on fine heavy paper, and handsomely bound.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. desire to assure their friends that the report that their store or factory had sustained serious damage by fire is unfounded. Their stock and buildings are wholly uninjured, the fire having been two doors away.

AN association of ladies, it is stated, has been formed in Prussia to prepare a complete new translation, by women and for women, of the Old and New Testaments. The N. Y. Tribune thinks we may, therefore, expect a "Petticoat Bible" as a suitable companion to the celebrated version known as the "Breeches Bible."

KEEPERS of news-stands on the New York Elevated Railroad stations, and in the principal hotels and ferry entrances, are authority for the statement that more libraries and books in paper covers are sold at twenty-five cents each than at ten cents. They say the great travelling public do not seem to care very much about the price so long as it does not exceed a quarter.

D. LOTHROP & Co. have just ready a new volume of travel by the Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, entitled "The Midnight Sun, the Tsar, and the Nihilist." His experiences in the strange northern countries of Europe have the charm of romance, but are wonderfully true to the peculiar life of the people, and the vivid descriptions of scenery are further enhanced by the numerous fine illustrations that ornament the book.

THE literature of the professions is being wonderfully increased. Especially true is this of the books on medicine and surgery. A prominent Chicago practitioner, whose specialty is the treatment of the eye, recently said to a reporter of a Chicago daily that the number of books which he now had for the study of the eye and its diseases far exceeded the number of those which he formerly used in studying the whole subject of medicine.

D. C. HEATH & Co. will bring out at an early date, for this and for the English market also, a work of singular interest to the educational world, and especially to those who desire to place education on a scientific basis, in Antonio Rosmini Serbati's "Method in Education," translated into English by Mrs. William Grey, who is widely known in England as a leader in the movement for the higher education of women. The work is said to be "an admirable exposition of the method of presenting knowledge to the human mind in accordance with the natural laws of its development;" and that "the disciples of Froebel will find in it not only a perfectly independent confirmation but also the true psychological estimate of the principles of Froebel's kindergarten system."

THE tenth volume of the "Archives of the German Book-Trade" has just been issued by the Börsenverein des deutschen Buchhandels.

MR. J. W. ZAEHNSDORF is carrying on the bindery of his late father, of which he has had entire management for the last four years.

THE next volume in the Badminton Library, to be published in February, will be "Cycling," written by Lord Bury and Mr. G. Lacy Hillier.

CHAPMAN & HALL have arranged for the issue of what is hoped will be a really satisfactory edition of "The Pickwick Papers." The new edition will contain facsimiles of all the original drawings, including some never yet published.

WALTER SCOTT, London and Newcastle, will publish at once in his biographical series of Great Writers an account of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow by Eric Robertson. This will be followed in February by a volume on Coleridge, by Hall Caine. Volumes on Dickens and Rossetti are promised.

SAMPSON LOW & Co. will publish at once Admiral Semmes' "Service Afloat, or, the career of the Confederate cruisers Sumter and Alabama during the American civil war." It will be illustrated by steel plates and chromo-tinted engravings. They will also shortly publish an interesting work on "The Rothschilds: the financial rulers of nations," by John Reeve.

THE attempts made to stamp out underselling in Germany seem to be attended with satisfactory results. Out of five firms excluded from trade privileges on account of underselling, and whose names were made known to the trade by the Council of the Börsenverein in a circular dated Nov. 22d, two have already announced their intention of discontinuing their former practices.

W. H. ALLEN & Co., London, announce "A History of the United States," in two volumes. The work is said to cover the whole period from the foundation of Virginia and Plymouth down to the close of the War of Secession and the re-establishment of self-government in the Southern States. The author, Mr. Percy Greg, has been known from the publication of his first volume of verse—"Interleaves," in 1875—as a strong sympathizer with the Southern cause; and this work is, perhaps, the first historical account of the Civil War and its causes from that standpoint by one who was not an actor on the stage.

Each Bookseller His Own Publisher.

The LITERARY NEWS is intended to help sell books.

We are intending to make it the best we know how through 1887—fresh, live, novel.

It will hereafter be illustrated from the new books, or with portraits of authors.

If the retail trade take to the idea, we propose to add a handsome cover, imprint on the first page, the other pages left free for local advertising (which we will print), which will cover the whole or most of the cost of an edition.

Subscriptions, at $1 per year, or sales over the counter, at 10 cents the number, will add another element of profit. If subscriptions are obtained, the bookseller may enter the periodical at his local post-office as second-class matter—rate, one cent per pound.

Large orders will secure exclusive rights for a locality.

Its 32 pages monthly will include the brightest reviews of the most salable books, the popular prize questions, the useful purchase-list and survey of current literature, reading lists on timely topics, etc., etc.

A bookseller thus becomes the publisher of a bright monthly magazine of his own, from which the return should recoup most or all of the outlay, giving his own store the best of advertising at little or no cost.

Write us for further particulars, terms, etc.

ZOLA'S NEW WORK.

Christine, the Model; Or, Studies of Love.

Zola in his new book has taken artist life in Paris among the beautiful models in the studios as his theme, which is graphically described and vividly and truthfully depicted, and it is one of his very best productions, being full of spice, dash, vigor, and originality. Claude Lantier, brother of the beautiful Nana, and son of Gervaise and Lantier of "L'Assommoir," is the hero. He and Christine pervade the book, a thrilling picture of their ardent love being given. Under the name of Sandoz, Zola personally figures largely in the fascinating novel.

The immense and unprecedented sale of the earlier editions of Mr. Henderson's book, "Gardening for Profit," which sale has been continuous since the first day of its issue, indicates the estimate of its value as a thoroughly practical work. The new book, just issued, contains the best of the former work, with large editions drawn from the author's added years of experience.
